I got the nicest little folder yesterday you most ever saw. Maybe you got one, too, if you have a telephone and your name is in the directory, because that is where they got my name and address. The way I can tell it is it's "Old Peachtree Road" it came out of old folks still call it the "Old Peachtree Road" it came out of the directory because that name is the "Round Hill Road" which is sort of funny at that, because it's not the way most people use to go to Round Hill. You can go that way, but there is another way, which is shorter and paved too, and it is used by nearly everybody, so I reckon I live on the "old Peachtree Road" and the "old Round Hill Road." But to get back to this little pamphlet thing they sent me, it was a neat sort of thing printed in blue ink, and it was sent to me personally by the President of the company which made me appreciate it even more, because mightily few of these big executives have the time to sit down and figure out things like that.

This pamphlet thing is for people who have hearing problems, especially those who hear but do not understand; those with headsets ringing in the ear; those who hear nothing but mumbling and words running together; and those who hear a jumbled-up noise when they are in a group of people.

This little gadget, which you place in your ear (provided you are deaf) is no larger than a nickel and has an automatic volume control, which is a mighty good thing, because when you see somebody coming you do not have to tell 'em to hold up on what they were fixing to say while you regulate the volume. I reckon they also have some kind of automatic do-dad to keep the words from running together.

I'm afraid they are going too far when they claim they can do something about "jumbled-up noises" when they are in a group of people. You do not have to be deaf to hear those jumbled-up noises because people who can hear perfectly well have the same trouble and some of them might buy one of the things if they had some guarantee they could cut out about 90 per cent of what they are hearing. You get a room full of people and let 'em get started to gabbing and you are going to hear all kinds of noises and the only thing that will cut out the noises is cotton-stuffed in the ear, which does not look good but is probably a lot cheaper than this automatic hearing aid which is no larger than a nickel.

I never was one to tell anybody how to run their business, but it seems like this company has started off on the wrong foot by using the telephone directory for a mailing list. They might run into a few deaf people that way, but the percentage is going to be mighty small. You take on my street, for instance, we have about 40 or 50 people and not a single one of 'em is deaf. Some of 'em don't pay any attention to what other people are saying, but this is because they are omert and cantankerous and not because they are deaf. Maybe they would come out better if they would advertise something for dumbness, on account of we have more dumb people on Peachtree Road and Round Hill Road than we have deaf people.

This pamphlet the President of the company sent out must have cost them about 20¢ figuring postage, printing and addressing. What he should have done is to get somebody here to send him a list of all the deaf people in town and he would have saved his company a lot of money. I don't reckon we have over ten or twelve deaf people in town, and most of them already have some kind of hearing aid.

Of course, I'm glad to hear from the President of a big firm, who is so vitally interested in my well being. On the other hand, though, I reckon deafness is the only thing I'm not affected with. He could have sent me pamphlets on a cure for every other kind of ailment, affliction and illness, and I would have ordered some.

Requests For State Tourist Information Up

The state received 7,695 more requests for state information in 1962-63 than in the previous fiscal year, according to a report issued by Ed Ewing, Director of the Bureau of Publicity and Information. The Bureau received 16,341 requests during the last fiscal year, as compared with 16,341 the previous year. Ewing said the increased work load was handled with the same staff as before.

"The state anticipates a continuing increase in the number of requests for tourist material as a result of our new travel advertising and travel promotion campaign," said Governor George C. Wallace. "More and more people are realizing that Alabama is a fine place to spend their vacations," he said.

The largest number of requests processed by the bureau came from Alabama (3,074). Citizens of five other states sent in more than one thousand requests each. They are: California, 1,736; New York, 1,531; Pennsylvania, 1,274; Illinois, 1,231; and Ohio, 1,207.

Texas, 998; Michigan, 838; Canada, 823; and North Carolina, 768, rounded out the top ten in number of requests.

Inquiries came in from 49 different states and Washington, D.C. Five hundred eighty-two were received from foreign nations.

"Every person who wrote us received a prompt, courteous answer. In instances where they sought information we did not have, we called on other state departments to assist us. We are grateful for their cooperation in our efforts to better inform other people about Alabama," Ewing said.

DEMOCRATS - CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTIONS
I have an idea it is going to be real hard for the Democrats to raise money for their campaign in Alabama this year. With Roy Mayhall, chairman of the State Executive Committee, refusing to let other committee members know how the money that is collected is being spent is not going to help toward collections. How does the committee plan to explain that when they start urging for donations? Democrats in Alabama are not willing for the money collected in the state to be given to states that work against the south. And it is suspected that is where Alabama's money goes, thus "why" the secret. A real battle has come up between Chairman Mayhall and Committeeman Grover W. Ray of Headland who demands information as to how the committee spends the money it collects.

At this time this information is still being refused by Mayhall. The most of us are going to know how the money we dish out is used. Certainly I'm not satisfied to donate up a blind alley. The dishonesty of "I gave in good faith and it is then used where my money goes when I turn it loose. Not that the Democrats or Republicans will be hurt much by withholding my small contribution, but a lot of little contributions can add up to the big ones and I have an idea that the big figures are going to make up for a lot of little gifts this year.

CELEBRATES 78th BIRTHDAY
My mother celebrated her 78th birthday Sunday, and children complimented her at a family and neighborhood party. She did not know anything about it didn't even know that she had her birthday cake until noon Sunday when we all began trooping in. Seven of the eight children were there at the same time which is the nearest we have all been together in years. You will see a picture of all of us in this newspaper. And you will note that while I was getting things set up ready for the picture how my sisters all crowded in the background so they would look "little" to the camera eye. That left me to stand at the front and look bigger than anyone—perhaps bigger than all the others put together. Of course I'm not going to admit that I'm actually bigger than any of the others. But regardless of size I was not going to be left out of that picture with my mother on her 78th birthday.

"THORNER CONVENTION"
Each state gets a convention vote for every 100,000 Democratic votes cast in 1960. Bigger states with more voters will benefit. Each state voting the Kennedy-Johnson ticket in 1960 will get a bonus of 10 votes. The Northeastern industrial states gained the most at the expense of Great Plains, Rocky Mountain and Southern states. The size of the Democratic convention in August is said to be "thornier" than ever. In comparison the Republican convention, with 1,308 delegates, will have about half as large a Democratic convention. With their 1,308 alternates, they still will have less than half as large a Democratic convention. Each GOP delegate will have one vote each but the 3,056 delegates and 2,208 alternates of the Democrats will have only one vote each.

Staring, astounded, is Filk who wears his everyday fur coat. Poodles from the Fort Rucker area participated in the show, followed by fashions that ranged from bathrobes to rain coats. Mrs. Alabama narrated the program, which followed a student wives luncheon.

THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH will begin its 1964 Stewardship Campaign on Sunday, February 3. This special emphasis is a vital part of the annual program of the church. It will include a Loyalty Dinner on the evening of February 19 at the Elba school cafeteria. And the climax of the campaign will be Pledge Day on Sunday, February 23 and Victory Day on Sunday, March 1.

The members of the Stewardship Campaign Steering Committee are as follows: General Chairman, Eris Paul Budget; Chairman, Floumy Whitman; Budget Planning, Carlton Larkins; Budget Promotion, Joe Bruce; Budget Pledging, Sam Collier; Lesson Chairman, E.M. Warr; Reservations, Mrs. Paxton Miles; Children's Party, Mrs. T.K. Dorsey; Rally Committee, Alva Devane; Office Help Chairman, Mrs. Jack Brunson; Report Snack, Mrs. L.C. Sharpless; Assignment Supervisor, Mrs. Sam Sawyer.

The church family during 1963 made possible a sizeable increase in the church's gifts to mission causes. Also made possible was the purchase of several pieces of needed equipment, including four new hospital type nursery beds. Pictured in the nursery are: Nursery Coordinator, Mrs. A.C. Brunson, Sr.; Stacey Dorsey, Dana Heath, Cindy Jacobs, and Mrs. Lettie Roberts.

The exercise consisted of airborne tactical operations. Sergeant Sawyer, a team leader in the battle group's Company A, entered the Army in September 1961.

Miss Davis Chosen As Board Member

Tulah Davis of Elba, a Junior at Alabama College, has been chosen to be a member of Mademoiselle magazine's 1964 national College Board, made up of students from the United States, Canada and abroad.

The annual College Board Competition is designed for young women with talent in art, writing, fashion, merchandising, promotion, or advertising. Each Board member must submit a paper on a topic of her choice on the basis of an entry that showed her ability in one of these fields.

As a College Board member, she will report on the college to the magazine, and she is eligible to compete for one of the twenty Guest Editorships that will be awarded in May. To win one of these prizes, each Board member must submit a second entry to show her specific aptitude for magazine work.

The twenty College Board members who win Guest Editorships will be taken to New York City for the month of June to help write, illustrate, and edit the August College issue. They will share offices with the magazine's editors, advise the staff on campus trends, interview well-known artists and writers, and represent the magazine on visits to publishing houses, stores, and advertising agencies.

Application forms for the annual competition are available from high school principals and counselors. At stake will be the largest number of four-year scholarships ever offered by Birmingham-Southern College.

Five Phi Beta Kappa Scholarships, each worth $4,000, will be awarded, as well as four $3,000 Career Scholarships.

Any high school student who will finish his high school work not later than January, 1965 may enter the Phi Beta Kappa competition.

Auburn To Conduct Summer Institute

Auburn University will conduct summer institutes in both biology and mathematics for the high school teacher during the 1964 summer quarter beginning June 11 and ending August 22.

President Ralph B. Draughon announced this year that National Science Foundation grants totaling $123,396 have been approved, making the unitary biology and the sequential mathematics institutes possible.

To be eligible, applicants must be teaching either biology or mathematics within grades 7 through 12 with at least two years experience, and must be eligible for admission to the graduate school. Courses offered in the institutes carry graduate credit.

The grants provide financial support for 40 participants in each institute with additional allowance for dependents and travel expenses.

All applications must be postmarked by February 15, 1964. Persons interested in the biology institute should apply to Dr. Julian L. Dusi, Department of Zoology-Entomology, Funcheon Hall, Auburn University, and those interested in the mathematics institute should apply to Dr. R.K. Butz, Mathematics Department, Physical Science Center, Auburn University.

WHEN ONE PLUS ONE DOES NOT EQUAL TWO

In mathematics the addition of one and one will always equal two. But in pharmacy this is not true all the time. Every medicine has its own particular use but sometimes two medicines working in combination will produce a third different result.

There are many such medicines and we are familiar with all their functions. When a physician gives you two prescriptions in treating a condition, this combined result could be what he is striving for. Always have every prescription you are given filled without delay and take as directed.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people trust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Kimbro; Mrs. Robert Morgan (Heater), of Andalusia; Mrs. Bernice Salter (Jurida) of Atmore and Mrs. Obed Monk (Ina Maude), of Brewton.

White and Avans risked their own lives to save the life of a coworker when the ground caved from under him on a construction site near Lincoln. Also cited for bravery was Engineering Assistant James Fore of the Second Division, who was not present at the awards ceremony in the highway director's office in Montgomery.

Highway Employees Receive Unusual Recognition

Three Alabama Highway Department employees received unusual recognition this week from Governor George C. Wallace.

Donald White, Bennie Avans, and James Fore—all engineering assistants with the Second Highway Division in Birmingham—were formally awarded certificates of "extraordinary bravery" for saving the life of a coworker. The highway director said this is the first time bravery awards have ever been given in the Highway Department.

Presenting the certificates on behalf of Governor Wallace, State Highway Director Ed N. Rodgers said, "We're proud of you and we want you to know it."

The highway director said this is the first time bravery awards have ever been given in the Highway Department.

The accident took place on October 14, 1963, on Interstate Route 20 in Talladega County about three miles from Lincoln. As the highway crew was checking to see why the roadway foundation was sagging, the ground suddenly caved from under poll tax, do so today. And if you're 21 and otherwise qualified you should register. Prospective voters who became 45 on or before October 1, 1962 but before October 1, 1963, you'll owe one year's poll tax. If you became 45 after October 1, 1962 but before October 1, 1963, you'll owe one year's poll tax. If you became 45 on or before October 1, 1962 but before October 1, 1963, you'll owe one year's poll tax. If you became 45 on or before October 1, 1962 but before October 1, 1963, you'll owe one year's poll tax.

Be sure your name is on the voters list for 1964. It's going to be a great election year.

MY MUSIC BOX - A friend, Charles Lindsey, came in this morning and wanted to know, on hearing my music box going, if we had turned this newspaper office into a hoed-down going in my office just about every minute.

Mr. at work. I may be wrong, but I have an idea that I can work better. One day a young lady came in and she didn't appreciate the way we were taking the other fellow's word for it, we are going to be a pitiful nation.

The Letter - "FREEDOM OF CHOICE" Editor, The Advertiser: I have been with this country since the first white men arrived. The United States government "solved" its Indian problem by bludgeoning them into ghettos, known as reservations; all is that the civil rights bill is now creating so much confusion is going to be just as damaging to the Negro race as to the white race or any other people. But the Negro has been sold on the idea that "everybody is for their benefit". But in years to come they will suffer more as a result of it. If it should be made law, for they couldn't own property and control it anymore than a white man. No one wins from the destroying of property rights.

Astonishingly, many of the forces who opposed the states having that right are now pressing for legislation that would give the federal government the power of compelling races to mix.

If it is wrong to compel races to segregate, it is equally wrong to compel them to integrate.

The Bill of Rights in our Constitution offers the right approach to the solution of any problem in the highly sensitive field of human relations, be it racial or otherwise. Here our forefathers very wisely used freedom of choice as the key, not compulsion. Each one is free to worship, assemble or speak with those of like mind, as it is their right not to worship, assemble or speak at all.

Thus, voluntary, freedom of choice in racial relations becomes the only fair solution for each individual will socialize, paralyze and participate where they are welcomed, and no one will have cause for complaint because of compulsion.

Mr. Ellis said the feed grain producing farmers of this county will be afforded every opportunity to take part in the 1964 program. The USDA county official noted that again in 1964, the program, as in past years, will be entirely voluntary.

Mr. Ellis also stated that in making the announcement this early, Department of Agriculture officials considered the fact that this will give the farmer a chance to think and to decide as to their choice. Before February 10 each feed grain producer in the county will be mailed the feed grain payment rates for his farm and other information about the program.

The county AGS chairman outlined these advantages of the 1964 program for those who take part:

1. It will provide higher average payments.

2. It means eligibility for price support.

3. There is an assured income from diverted acreage, and

4. If so desired the grain producer may elect to take advance payment.</

Farm Affairs

With
Thomas C. Cassaday
COUNTY AGENT

Three Coffee County farmers are attending a Farm Management School on Monday night at the county agent's office in Dothan. Seven wiregrass county agents including county agents, Tom Cassaday and J.R. Speed, will be attending the school at-

The three farmers to attend are: Frank Britt, Enterprise, Route 1; Brown Bryars, Enterprise, Route 2; and Phillip Martin, Enterprise, Route 2. It is hoped that these three farmers will take the entire training course which will consist of five 2-hour classes in addition to the Monday night class.

Session 1 will be devoted to the role and function of management. Session 2 will deal with major factors influencing farm profits. Session 3 will be farm business records and farm business analysis.

Session 4 will be budgeting for the farm business. Session 5 will be planning the farm business.

Mr. O. P. Smith, pecan and coastal bermuda grass enthusiast, attended the pecan meeting in Dothan last week and came by the county agent's office reporting that it was an excellent meeting.

Mr. Smith has been necessary to double the number of pigs vaccinated to eradicate hog cholera in Coffee County.

Three new administrators were recommended by county agent, Tom Cassaday, and these have been appointed by the State Veterinarian's office.

John Glenn Lee of the Lee Community, Durwood Grimes of the Curtis Community, and Eugene Faris of the Bradshaw Community have begun their duties as administrators. Each administrator will vaccinate his own hogs and urge every hog producer in his community to vaccinate his herds.

Homemakers

By: Sara Hutchison

Were you one of the lucky homemakers who received a portable electric appliance for Christmas? If you are, be sure you give your appliance the best of care.

Here are tips that will help you:

1. Cool appliance and clean it soon after it's used.
2. Remove salted liquids or food from aluminum utensils to avoid pitting, which can occur over a period of time.
3. Remove hard stains from aluminum interiors with a soap pad or by heating two tablespoons of cream of tartar to one quart of water in the container you are cleaning.
4. Coffee makers except those of aluminum can be kept sweet and clean by occasional cleaning with baking soda. Use 1 1/4 tablespoons of baking soda in six cups of water. Then, proceed as for making coffee.

It is always to the homemakers advantage to read the manufacturer's instructions for helpful hints and care.

You can safely freeze meat if it doesn't thaw out completely. But the meat may be less tender and juicy.

A quart container holds from 4 to 6 servings; a pint will hold 2 to 3; so select the right size container for your family when freezing foods.

Last week Mrs. Georgia Flemming and Mr. H. B. Thompson, 4-H agents, attended a two day leadership training meeting in Troy. This meeting gave agents information on 4-H awards and leadership programs.

Are you interested in helping with a kitchen and laundry improvement program either for yourself or to help your neighbor? Your county is enrolled in this program for 1964.

There will be a training meeting in Andalusia on Tuesday, February 11 for twelve leaders from the county. If you are interested in this program and attending the meeting please call the home agents office 347-6095, Enterprise.

Macon Academy

To Hold Open

House

Macon Academy, a private school established in Tuskegee last fall, will be open to the view and inspection of the public from 1:00 to 4:30 P.M., Saturday and Sunday, January 25 and 26.

This Open House will present an opportunity for all persons interested in the welfare of the academy to gain a first-hand knowledge of this latest venture along educational lines in Macon County and to learn of the school's accomplishments along education in the first semester of operation.

The officials of Macon Academy and the Macon County Private School Foundation invite and urge all interested persons to visit and get acquainted with the facility, the faculty and the program. The school is equipped adequately to furnish the essential needs of its 138 students.

A science laboratory equipped with some of the latest items necessary for modern instruction is one of the features to be viewed. Other important features of the academy include a typing classroom containing 20 typewriters, hundreds of books being processed for the new library, and the excellent lighting and heating systems that have been installed throughout the structure.

Another building located behind the main one is being renovated and transformed into an assembly hall and additional classrooms.

A preview of Macon Academy will be accorded members of the press and other news media who have been invited to visit the school Friday afternoon, January 24.
